The faces of Pleasant School are many and varied, but they reflect you, the student body. Yesterday a happy face, today saddened, tomorrow a tearful but eager face meets the world with meek anticipations.

The 1977 Key has attempted to portray in pictures and words your lives as you have lived them during the school year. If a student, looking through his yearbook, can place himself in a scene or enjoy an accomplishment, the yearbook has succeeded. Also, if the actions in the school by students, teachers, and administraters are correctly pictured, then the yearbook has served its purpose.

We hope you feel that this edition of the Key has succeeded at least as well as the volumes that have gone

SIGNS OF THE TIME

Year by year, day by day our world fills itself with an ever-increasing number of ideas, ambitions, likes and distikes. We are born into that world which engulfs us with thousands upon thousands of these feelings . . . the Signs of the Times.

The Signs of Yesterday represent growth and formation, for yesterday began with simpler foundations.

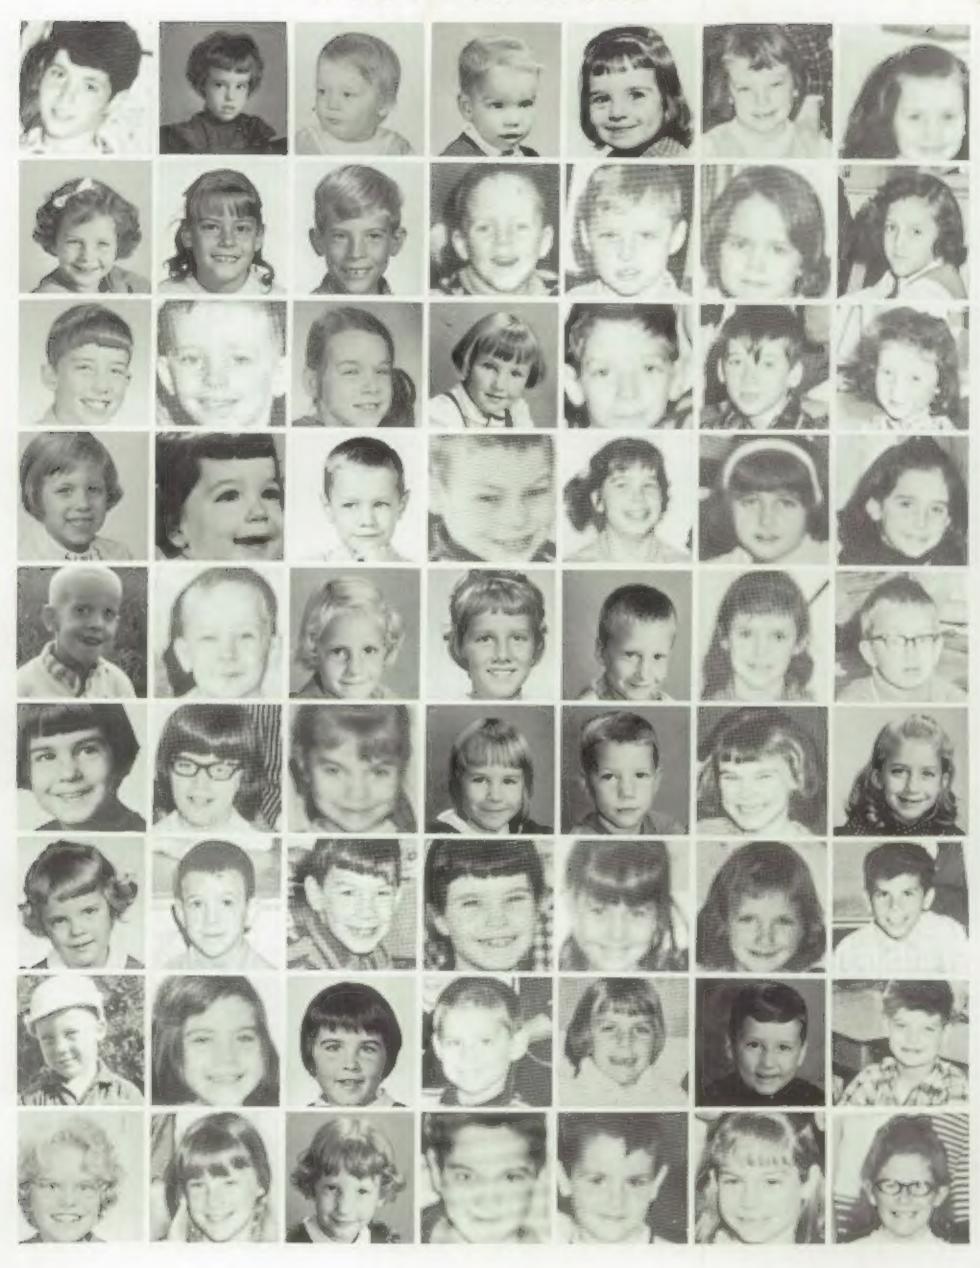

The Signs of Today fill us with enthusiasm. We see it

The Signs of Today fill us with enthusiasm. We see it reflected in the people around us both in places near and in places far.

The Signs of Tomorrow challenge us and encourage us to go on.

LOOKING BACK

Seniors, can you believe it? As we came to school that first day twelve years ago, the farthest thing from our minds was graduation. As we entered high school as a class, we worked together toward one common goal, commencement. May 20, 1977 found all of us attending our graduation exercise practice. A.B. Naseman is caught reading the final instructions. B.J. Kegelmeyer and J. Kantzer are waiting patiently. C.M. Dutt looks startled as his name is called. D.K. Rhoades likes the idea of graduation, too. INDIVIDUALISM PROMOTED THROUGH OWE

"Where did all the pieces go?"

"It's right here . . , I think."

"Learning to drive anyone?"

Exercise is fun when the going gets tough!"

The basic philosophy of the Pleasant Work Study Program is accepting an individual as he is. This individual is provided with a stimulating school environment and opportunities for learning experiences. The Pleasant Work Study Program, OWE, deals with three phases.

Phase I: Classroom activities prepare students for the working world.

Phase II: Students develop basic job skills within confines of the school.

Phase III: Students are placed on jobs in industries and businesses in the community.

"How about a BIG MAC?"

"Got to get that muffler on."

"This is how it is . . . "

F.H.A. MEMBERS EARN

The Pleasant Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America hold their monthly meetings in the high school. Examples of the meetings are fashion shows, progressive dinners, and Daddy Date Day. They also go Christmas caroling, dress Salvation Army Dolls, and go on field trips. Through their involvement and active participation, the girls can earn various degrees.

F.H.A. Freshman ROW 1: M. Lawrence, S. Brammer, L. Dickason ROW2: S. Blue, S. Hensel, T. Smart, K. Jomes, R. Fillinger, S. Kay ROW 3: N. Jackson, A. Schaber, C. England, P. Schofield, S. Ralston, C. Clinger, K. Kantzer, C. Stickdorn, K. Coile

The Junior Degree is the first one chapter members work toward. It can usually be earned in 1 1/2 or 2 semesters. A member of any grade level may work on the Junior Degree as long as she has belonged to an affilliated chapter, and is in home economics class.

To try for the Chapter Degree, a girl must have had her junior Degree completed. Work on the Chapter Degree must show growth of individual in participation and leadership beyond the dome in the Junior Degree.

Another way that Future Homemakers Association encourages growth of the individual is through the encounter program. In this program the individual, with help of an advisor, sets goals for themselves which will help them grow, then works to reach those goals.

F.H.A. Juniors ROW 1: T. Myers, S. Creager, R. Bushatz, K. Leeper, L. Norris, R. Hanahan, ROW 2: J. Blashinsky, J. Williams, K. Griffith, R. Schrock, K. Haas, J. Millisor, L. Shriver

The State Homemaker Degree can be earned by F.H.A. girls who have completed their Junior and Chapter Degrees. To earn this degree, they have to show an understanding of F.H.A. through activities with the State and National F.H.A. The girls also have to show growth as an individual and as a member of a home, a chapter, a school, and a community. Explaining Home Economics and F.H.A. completes the work required to become a State Homemaker.

F.H.A. Officers ROW 1: L. Bailey, P. Leeper, V. Sharp, C. Thomas, ROW 2: Mrs. Cackler, Advisor; K. Leeper, K. Haas, A. Hunter, A. Turner, J. Hatcher, Mrs. Busch, Advisor.

FHA STATE CONVENTION

The annual FHA Convention is held in Columbus. FHA chapters from the entire state are represented at this gathering. State reports are given as well as state officers elected.

Meetings are held throughout the days at Veterans Memorial. Those who have received their State Homemaker or Encounter Degree attend a brunch in their honor.

A. Connie Thomas, Anna Marie Turner, Kathy Leeper attend a brunch for State Homemakers.

- C. Is that Sandy Lane in the bear suit?
- D. Time is taken out of their busy schedule for a group picture.

During May, the junior and senior Home Economics: classes held a play-school for 17 children under the direction of Mrs. Busch and Mrs. Cackler. The youngsters attended for five days. The students led songs, read stories to the children, and helped them put on a puppet show. The kids also played with play-doh and had refreshments.

STARS OF SCHOLARSHIP

Members of the 28 year old chartered branch of the National Honor Society were carefully selected by a faculty committee. Outstanding character, scholorship, leadership, and service were qualities which the committee sought in perspective members who were inducted in April. Those eligible for selection must have maintained a 3-0 average and hold a place in the top teal percent of the junior class and top fifteen percent of the senior class. Students start working for this honor from the beginning of their freshman year and continue the challenge for the rest of their school years.

With each passing year, new ideas and creations are combined to create a better book than ever before. With Associate Editors, Jeri Hatcher, Merritt Narence, and Robin Roberts successfully heading the staff, the book was completed this year.

Staff Members--Larrel Orwig, Joyce Weigler, Robin Schrock, Brenda Nelson, Laura Spencer, Lisa Spencer, Pam Leeper, Rhonda Buschatz, Todd Mestepey, Lynn Birchfield, Pam McCloud, Tom Schrote, Mary Flack, Marlys Michaels, Linda Orwig, Debbie Boblentz, Karen Haas, Marden Watts, Paula Askew, Karen Curren, Lisa Graham, Debi Hart, Gretchen Alspach, Lori Porterfield, Janet Williams, Janet Millisor, Sharen Creager, Nancy Gilmore, Kathy Leeper, Anna Marie Turner, Sue Moss, Juanita Oller, Lisa Norris, Mark Hall, and freshman photographers, Greg Hines, Jim McGory, and Doug Hall all worked together to make their section deadlines.

At times the struggle seemed impossible. The book was a massive collection of unorganized pictures and captions. As the weeks went by, the pages began to fall into place; the book took on meaning. No year is easy; as a matter of fact some seem more difficult. As the last deadline was met and the book was completed, the staff could look back and see that the book was worth it all.

Time, patience, work and loads of perservance are rewarded when the fruits of our labors are presented to you--the student body.

Athletic Program In Review

A winning season and good entertainment for the fans are the goals of all persons who participate and support the Pleasant Athletic Program.

When the fans come to see a football game, voiley-ball game, or any other sporting event, they see the result of hard work-rathletes, band members, pep band members, colorguard, majorettes, and cheerleaders.

in preparation for the up-coming season the athletes run... lift weights...go to camp... Band members, colorquards, and majorettes spend many hours during the summer practicing their marching and playing skills... Cheerleaders attend camp for development of routines... Parents too spend much time supporting a winning season by encouraging their own sons and daughters.

Students, faculty, administration, and members of our community are indeed proud of the Pleasant Athletic Program.

ACTION CONTINUES DURING PRACTICE

Starting down the hall to the locker room . . . thinking, how much weight you are over . . . Running the stairs in a plastic sweat suit . . .

Practicing on the mat is a different story but just as tiring. Wrestlers must go OVER and OVER and OVER many different moves until mastery is complete. Teaching the same moves to younger grapplers is a challenging experience. After a good practice you are ready to go to bed; but you know when you get home you will run another mile or two.

What makes the wrestler come back next week and do it all over again is the night of the match and he beats his opponent. Winning is the name of the game. WHEN THE GOING GETS TOUGH, THE WRES-

TLERS GET GOING. By Dale Frye

CHEERLEADERS AND STATISTICIANS ARE IMPORTANT TO THE GAME

The cheerleaders at PHS are symbolic of school spirit. Not only do they attend summer cheerleaders camp and practice their cheers after school, but they also take the responsibility of decorating the school halls with banners, leading pep rallies, decorating for the banquet, and of course, leading the crowd in their cheers at basketball games.

The statistians play an important part in Pleasant's basketball program. The team's style of play and strategy are decided by the coaching staff on what the OER, shot charts and floorplay show them on team and individual performances,

Highlights of individual credits for varsity basketball squad made this season are: Leading rebounder was Bob Dutcher, who also scored 147 points. Brian Morgan led the free throw with 75%, while Jeff Cusick had 69 assists. Under the leadership of coaches Stan Kirby and Bob Gucker, the team finished the season with a record of 8-10.

Preparation for high school and the future is the goal of the teachers of the junior high and the elementary. Students develop various interests. with the help of their friends, parents, advisors, and coaches. Through his teacher the student encounters the challenge of belonging to the class. The student attempts to fulfill his challenge by contributing to discussions and projects. A raised hand, a look of determination or concentration: these are the indications that the student has met HIS challenge.

They set their goals higher and higher, building new strength in mind and body, gaining confidence and power of knowledge to sustain our flight through life. Persistently they move onward, pushing farther and farther, until suddenly they realize that they are caught up in our nation's intricate pattern of progress.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT HAS MANY DIFFERENT FORMS

B. Having an enthusiastic, cheerful, and pleasant teacher like Mrs. Mentzer, makes a school day fly by. (If she doesn't get mad and give homework.

C. Being physically fit is as important as being intelligent. The intramural workers—in the junior high are a good example of this rule!?!

A. An interesting way in which these kids learn is through the challenging ar of reading.

F, A majestic junior high school stands lonely and cold, reminding us of the harsh winter that just passed, D. These happy youngsters (TOP TO BOTTOM—Trent Standley, Larry Sears, Ansing Chen, Leanne Johnson, Jeff Williams, Lisa Guy) show that winning a Superior at the science fair isn't all hard work.

E. The masterminds behind the junior high Kaleidoscope are: Russell Barnhouse, Scott Lamb, and Leanne Johnson. This magazine contains censored, creative writings of junior high students.

SPECIALTY PROGRAMS

Division of reading skills, (i-brary techniques, physical development, guidance strategy . . . aids students in becoming aware of the world, prepared to face life. All offers the students the opportunity to better prepare for the world in which he lives. To encourage and promote Specialty Programs emphasis is on individual participation.

A. Heading the Reading Department is Mrs. Marion Barbey. In addition to teaching elementary reading, she teaches the speed reading classes in the Junior High. Students can expand their academic potential by acquiring a range of reading skills. She received her Bachelor of Science in Education from the University of Illinois. She has a Reading Certificate from work completed at Capitol University. She has been at Pleasant High School for 17 years as a classroom teacher and reading specialist.

B. Mrs. Mary Gruber, acting as Media Center Coordinator, encourages students to improve their library skills by selecting from various visual aids, books, magazines and other reference materials. She received her B.S. of Education from OSU and attended Ohio Dominican College for additional studies. She has been at PHS for 11 years.

C. Mrs. Linda Leffler, 5th and 6th Grade Librarian, promotes an awareness in young students of library usage for personal enrichment and enjoyment by matching "child and book."

D. Mr. Larry Holman, Physical Education Coordinator, furthers physical fitness and helps students develop a better degree of coordination through group participation in daily gym classes and the intramural program. He received his B.S. of Education at West Virginia Tech, and has been at Pleasant Local Schools for 10 years.

E. Mrs. Louise Hunt, Junior High Guidance Counselor, instructs students by giving valuable information in personal interviews. Students are then better able to meet the demands of high school study. Highlights Of The Season.

Girl's basketball had a fine first year with a 7-1 overall record. Leading scorers were Linda Slusher, 7.5 points per game; Debbie Leffler, 6.0 points per game; and Melody Morgan with 5.5 points per game. Coach Hupp credits much of the team's success to the good outside shooters and the determination of the team to scramble to get the loose ball. Strength from the bench included 4 or 5 players who could come into the game and do a good job.
